Drilling gold deposits – case studies assessing primary sample representivity

This talk looks at the issue of how well your drilling samples represent the rock-mass you are testing during exploration or development. It includes simple tests you can use to assess quality and improve your sampling outcomes.

Dale is an independent consulting geoscientist with over 35 years' experience based in Maitland. He specialises in resource development, estimation and training in 3D modelling using Leapfrog software. He is the immediate past AIG President and a current Director.

Drinks and nibbles will be provided before the talk

Optional PYO dinner and drinks after the talk, across the road at the Lord Anson Hotel

Supported by:

Talk = 1 CPD hour
